

This tactic by Sinclair in the showing of the biased film "Stolen Honor" is nothing more than a smear campaign against Sen. John Kerry on the public airwaves in the last few weeks before the election. We miss the FCC of our youth in which both sides of issues were given equal time and our media was, for the most part, independently owned and operated and not the bought-and-paid-for corporate mechanism that it is today. We've had the privilege of listening to John Nichols and Robert Machesney speak on these FCC/media issues in the last few years and are appalled at what is happening to our democracy, in large part because of the inability of the American public to get fair and unbiased news. Shame on you for being a part of an action that is destroying the fabric of our country. Where is your patriotism???
